

Let's face it. You can't do business without email. More and more your business is relying on communications with clients, vendors, employees, potential clients, experts, etc. Email and the Internet have become essential tools of your day. Because of the importance of this data, backing up and maintaining the data for email is just as vital. Unfortunately, this can be very costly.

Exchange is the Microsoft server product that moves 92% of the world's email. The cost of maintaining an Exchange server is usually twice the cost of maintaining your standard file server. The cost of backup software for Exchange is also about 2-3 times the price of backup programs for file servers; and that doesn't include adding anti-spam and anti-virus software to the mix. Where does it end?

Tomina Consulting has partnered with one of the leading Exchange Hosting companies in the world to allow you to Keep Exchange but Loose the Server! Hosted Exchange gives you all of the benefits of Exchange AND MORE without the high cost of maintenance and upgrades.

Why Hosted Exchange?

So where do you go now?

What is the REAL cost?

If you decide to go with a Hosted Exchange program, figuring the cost is simple. Let's look:

Email boxes are $12.50 ea. p/mo.

Blackberry users add $10 to utilize wireless sync* iPhone users and Windows Mobile add $10 for wireless sync*

*Wireless sync allows the user to sync calendar, contacts and email to mobile device anywhere at any time without cables or another computer.

Company A has 10 employees who will need email. Their monthly charge will be $125.

Company B has 6 employees who need email and 5 Blackberrys to sync. Their monthly cost will be $$75 + $50 = $125$.

There is about 24 hours advance time needed to switch your DNS settings from your current email host.
